Anglo Recognition Hinges Upon U. S. Peace Guarantee

Middle East Program Contains Some New Provisions for Holy Land

London, Jan. 19 (AP)—A government source said today Britain will recognize Israel if the United States joins in a British plan to guarantee peace in the Middle East.

Britain is said to have made new and drastic changes in her Holy Land policy in the Middle East plan which she is proposing to the United States.

The source said the offer to recognize Israel was made in a series of top-secret Washington talks between the British ambassador, Sir Oliver Franks, and U. S. Undersecretary of State Robert Lovett.

The development coincided with a meeting of Labor Party members of Parliament with Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin.

Bevin's critics showed up in force to assail his handling of the Holy Land situation—but the foreign secretary himself failed to show up.

The closed caucus of the 392 Labor members was to take up Bevin's policy in the light of his statement yesterday—a statement largely conciliatory to the foreign secretary's critics on the Middle East situation.

Dispatches from diplomatic correspondents in Washington said the British proposal included British recognition of Israel and backing for the Israeli bid to be admitted to the United Nations.

Neither Franks nor the State Department revealed the details of the meeting but Sir Oliver said afterward he had "some feeling of optimism over prospects of a Palestine settlement."

These reports, added to Foreign Secretary Bevin's statement in Commons yesterday that Jewish immigrants on Cyprus Hill will be freed and his strong endorsement of armistice talks between Israel and Egypt, indicated basic revisions had been made in Britain's Holy Land policy.

The conservative Daily Graphic said the British plan presented to Lovett also included a British and American guarantee of whatever borders the Arabs and Jews agree on; non-aggression treaties between Israel and her Arab neighbors; and international guarantees of free access to Jerusalem.

Proof Is Desired

Washington, Jan. 19 (AP)—Undersecretary of State Lovett said today that the United States would welcome proof in action of the intent behind recent declarations of Communist leaders favoring better relations between Russia and the west. Lovett said the United States is naturally very much interested in the comments of these leaders—which other officials have been studying for evidence of a new Soviet "peace offensive." But he strongly restated the basic American cold war policy of calling for actions rather than words alone if the Soviets and their Communist associates want to bring an improvement in world conditions.

Broad Program Asked

New York, Jan. 19 (AP)—The state administration has called for a broad program to expand psychiatric services in the state, and for $250,000 to get the job started. Governor Thomas E. Dewey said last night the Legislature will be asked to appropriate the money to add more psychiatric instructors to the facilities of the medical schools in the state. Speaking at a fund-raising dinner for the New York University Bellevue Medical Center, Dewey said there has been "an ever-increasing burden of hopeless" mental cases in the state. He said the state needs more psychiatrists, and must provide the facilities to train them.

Mrs. Dellay Dies In Auto Accident

Her Husband Is Injured and Is in Maryland Hospital

Allon, Md., Jan. 19 (AP)—Mrs. Josephine L. Dellay, 54, of Rosendale, N. Y., was killed and her husband, John, was injured in an auto crash near here yesterday.

Maryland state police said the car Mrs. Dellay was driving crashed into the rear of a highway maintenance truck.

Dellay suffered head injuries and possibly a fractured collar bone. He was reported in satisfactory condition today in Physicians' Memorial Hospital at La Plata.

Mr. and Mrs. Dellay resided in Rosendale, where Mr. Dellay is in the real estate business.

They were on their way to Florida when the fatal automobile accident occurred.

Before her marriage to Dellay, the deceased was the widow of John Larkin, who a number of years ago operated a shoe store in the downtown section of the city. By profession, she was a registered nurse.

Surviving besides her husband are a sister, Mrs. B. F. Quigley, of this city and three brothers, Daniel of Kingston, John of Worcester, Mass., and Patrick of New York.

The body will be brought to this city for funeral services and burial.

Confirmation of Acheson Augurs Policy Hard on Reds

Washington, Jan. 19 (AP)—Fresh evidence that the Truman administration will press its so-called "tough" policy toward Russia was found by diplomatic authorities today in the debate that led up to Senate confirmation of Dean Acheson as secretary of state.

The debate indicated that any effort to back away from the cold war in the months ahead would arouse violent opposition at the capitol.

Acheson, bearing a definite "no appeasement" label, was confirmed late yesterday by a vote of 82 to 6. The half dozen negative votes were all registered by his Republican critics. He is expected to be sworn in, as the fourth secretary of state to serve under President Truman, tomorrow or Friday.

Chinese Ask Cease Fire, Peace Talks

Government Has Formal Statement in Effort to Halt Three-Year War

View Is Awaited

Chiang's Reaction Held as Important; Early Approval Given

Nanking, Jan. 19 (AP)—The government today asked for a cease fire order on both sides in the Chinese civil war and immediate peace negotiations.

A formal statement by the government information office announced the move to halt the three year war.

The statement said: "The executive Yuan, at a regular meeting, discussed at length the national situation and made the following statement:

"The government, in deference to the general wishes of the people for an early realization of peace, hereby makes known its desire for both government and Communist forces to cease fire unconditionally and immediately and for both sides to appoint delegates to start peace negotiations."

The executive Yuan constitutionally may negotiate for peace, but the legislative Yuan must approve the proposals voted today by the executive Yuan.

The executive Yuan is powerful but is at the beck and call of the central executive committee of the Kuomintang party, which, in turn, takes its orders from President Chiang Kai-shek.

Chiang's views on the action today is eagerly awaited in the capital. The government announcement, however, was taken to mean that he had at least given tentative approval to the peace move.

(A besieged Peiping, an 11-member peace mission from the ancient city was expected back from the encircling lines of the Reds with an answer to their peace pleas. They went into the lines Monday under a truce flag.)

As the nation of 460,000,000 groped for a way to stop the civil war, foreign diplomats were informed the government would begin moving from Nanking to Canton on Friday.

(Previously several ministries were reported to have moved some of their personnel from the Communist threatened capital.)

Last week Chiang named a committee of three to draft a cease fire order. Shortly afterward Communist Leader Mao Tse-tung issued a radio ultimatum calling for total surrender of the Central Government. Mao's terms upset plans in Nanking at that time.

Many foreign diplomats said the government had been putting pressure on them to follow its southern government, these sources said, felt its regime would gain world prestige if the foreign embassies went along. However, most of the embassies wanted to stay here.

On the fighting front—where there was very little fighting—the command of Nationalist Gen. Pan Gen-fu, Nanking, and Shao-hai garrison commander, was extended to the Hangchow region.

Communist forces from the north were expected to start their assault on the Yangtze river front soon. The Reds reportedly were moving some of their troops south from Tientsin by rail.

The authoritative news agency in Nanking announced late in the day that T. V. Soong, Chiang's brother-in-law, had been relieved as pacification ("bandit" suppression) headquarters commander at Canton by Gen. Yu Han-ming.

Soong held the post concurrently with the governorship of Kwangtung province.

In Formosa it was reported despite government denials, violence was mounting that Chiang was going there soon.

Three personal automobiles already have been shipped there, it was said and several of his personal attendants had arrived.

For the last few days martial law has been in force in the Tientsin district of Taipei containing the residence the president is expected to occupy. No reason for martial law in that district has been disclosed. Taipei is bursting with uniformed men and air trucks.

Trial Goes Along

New York, Jan. 19—Trial of 11 top Communist leaders went ahead today, without party National Chairman William Z. Foster, but at such a slow pace that the presiding jurist remarked: "It'd like to get down to work."

Several delaying moves still confront the court. Chief of these is a defense challenge of the venue of the trial in the Southern District of New York. The defense claims the method of choosing jurors here is biased. This, and other defense maneuvers have taken up almost the entire proceedings since the trial started Monday.

Kansas City Area Has 8-Inch Snow; Midland Hit Hard

Highways Are Impassable, Schools Are Closed; Storm Moving Northeast

(By The Associated Press)

The weather handed the midlands a one-two punch today, following up a snow that virtually paralyzed some areas with bitter cold.

The Kansas City area was hardest hit by the snowstorm which began before dawn yesterday and ended shortly before midnight.

The Weather Bureau recorded eight inches of snow.

Public and parochial schools in both Kansas City, Kas., and Kansas City, Mo., were closed today.

The highway patrol reported some highways in northwest and central Missouri were virtually impassable.

The storm was rapidly moving northeastward out of the midwest early today although it still was snowing in parts of Iowa, Illinois and Wisconsin.

Temperatures headed downward over much of the midcontinent.

The coldest weather of the winter season appeared in prospect for the northern plains and north central states for the next couple of days.

The cold wave accompanied by strong northerly winds swept southward through the northern plains and across the Mississippi valley.

At 5:30 a. m. (E.S.T.) today, Dickenson, N. D., reported 21 below zero and Chadron, Neb., had 18 below. It was one above zero at Goodland in western Kansas and four above at Tarkio, Mo.

Without Lights

Thousands of homes in St. Louis were without electricity last night. Falling tree limbs, coated with ice by a freezing rain, snapped electric company wires throughout the city.

Additional damage from ice was reported in southwest Missouri, an area still recovering from a treacherous ice storm last week.

Winds of hurricane force and higher lashed southern Michigan early today, leaving one man dead and heavy property damage.

Consumers Power Co. reported sustained gusts of wind in the Flint area of 82 miles per hour and brief gusts up to 95. Hurricanes were blowing off buildings and windows smashed over a wide area.

Telephone and power circuits were snarled. Schools were closed in several communities because of power failures.

George Wilson, 29, was crushed to death by a falling tree as he left work at the Buick plant in Flint.

Wind Does Damage

A howling windstorm sweeping the Great Lakes area lashed the western half of New York state today, leaving a trail of minor destruction.

At Rochester, where gusts hit a 60-mile-an-hour clip, a woman was trapped by falling debris.

Trees were uprooted, power lines ripped down, windows smashed and signs torn from their moorings over a wide area.

Gusts up to 62-miles-an-hour buffeted the Syracuse area. In some instances trees and heavy signs fell on parked automobiles.

Divorcee Released In Death of Rich Greenville Baker

Authorities Are Unable to Find Criminal Liability in Case; Shot in Head

Tallahassee, Fla., Jan. 19 (AP)—Sheriff Frank Stoutamire said today the puzzling death of wealthy Greenville Baker "is a closed matter as far as my office is concerned." He said there is no evidence of any criminal liability.

However, he said, if there are any new developments, "I have an open mind."

The sheriff advised State Attorney W. D. Hopkins to let Mrs. Thelma Griffin, tavern car-hop divorcee who was with the banking heir just before he died, go to her parents' home in Dade City, Fla.

Mrs. Griffin, after a brief interview with the state attorney, told reporters she was getting ready to leave town.

State Attorney Hopkins, too, said "we think we've done all we can do at this time. Everything has been covered, unless we get new evidence or some new information from the laboratory reports."

Close to Million Persons Are Expected; Dewey Sends President Well Wishes

Washington, Jan. 19 (AP)—Gay and carefree thousands poured into Washington today in a holiday mood for Harry S. Truman's presidential inauguration tomorrow.

They came in a stream of special trains, by plane and automobile to pay tribute to the one-time farm boy whose mother once said he "plowed the straightest row of corn" in all Jackson county, Missouri.

The best guesses are that 500,000 to 750,000 people are headed for Washington.

There was one jarring discord thrust into the Democrats' happy affair late yesterday—the Senate defeated a bill to waive the 20 per cent federal tax on all grandstand parade and inaugural ball tickets. This was the Democrats' first defeat in the new Congress.

But the sting of this Republican maneuver was eased by a message to the President from Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, the defeated G.O.P. presidential candidate.

Dewey wished Mr. Truman "good health and divine guidance" in congratulating him on his forthcoming inauguration. And the President replied that "good wishes such as yours strengthen me for the tasks that lie ahead."

At the White House, Mr. Truman fanned the jubilee spirit by signing a bill giving a Thursday-Friday holiday to federal workers in the Washington area. This gives them a four-day week-end for the festivities.

Even the weatherman was helpful. He promised no rain or snow when Mr. Truman and Vice President-elect Barkley of Kentucky are sworn into office at noon tomorrow on the platform at the steps of the Capitol. Just winds, a cloudy sky and the temperature at 38 to 40 degrees.

In Good Condition

The President was in good physical condition for the inauguration grind. His physician, Brig. Gen. Wallace H. Graham, announced he weighs 174 pounds, only four pounds over his best weight.

Mr. Truman got started on the inauguration program today.

President Begins Round Of Inaugural Festivities

Washington, Jan. 19 (AP)—Harry S. Truman took over the capital city today to the echoing strings of "I'm Just Wild About Harry."

The man from Missouri plunged into a gay round of inaugural festivities with a promise to fight on for world peace and for a "fair deal" legislative program at home.

And he asked all Democrats in Congress to co-operate, asserting "I know that is exactly what they are going to do."

Mr. Truman's promise and his appeal were in informal remarks last night at the 515-plate dinner of the Truman-Barkley Club, the send-off ceremony for inauguration week. He and Vice President-elect Barkley, who will take their oaths of office tomorrow, appeared together for the first time in the current celebrations.

Eastwind Is Aflame Off Jersey

Tanker Gulfstream Goes to New York Under Own Power; Has Hole in Bow

Worked in Hudson Cutter Broke River Ice Last Winter to Assist Tankers

New York, Jan. 19 (AP)—Ten coast guardsmen were killed and at least 19 injured today in the fiery crash of a coast guard cutter and a tanker in thick fog off the New Jersey coast.

Some of their shipmates courageously stayed aboard the flaming Cutter Eastwind to fight and bring under control the fire that threatened the ship's ammunition store. Seventy-eight uninjured survivors of the crash were taken aboard a rescue vessel, the S. S. Junior.

The collision occurred about 60 miles southwest of Barnegat Light vessel.

The 504-foot tanker Gulfstream, which collided with the Eastwind, reported she was proceeding to New York under her own power with an uninjured crew of 42. Her bow was damaged.

The freighter Republic of Colombia came alongside the Eastwind and crewmen went aboard to help the cutter's crew fight the flames, the coast guard reported.

The collision occurred about 4:30 a. m. (E.S.T.). At 11:10 a. m. (E.S.T.) the skipper of a rescue vessel standing by reported the flames were under control.

The S. S. Suzanne, one of several rescue vessels which rushed to the scene through the fog, took 17 injured coast guardsmen aboard and rushed at full speed for New York. Her skipper, Capt. Frank Boyer said five were badly burned and the others suffered minor burns.

The S. S. Junior, skippered by Capt. George H. Grant of New York, said she also had two of the injured aboard.

The ten dead were reported by the Coast Guard.

The Eastwind, in the ice-breaking service normally carries a crew of about 120.

Meanwhile, the Coast Guard said a navy fighter plane speeding to the scene had crashed two miles off little Macinpona Inlet, N. C. A Coast Guard helicopter flying toward the burning Eastwind was diverted to hunt for the navy plane. Another Coast Guard helicopter took off for the Eastwind.

The Coast Guard said the Eastwind was hit on the starboard side opposite the chief petty officer's quarters.

The crash tore the cutter so that her ammunition magazines were exposed and firefighters battled in momentary peril of explosion, the Coast Guard said.

The Eastwind, whose home port is Boston, was bound for Curtis Bay, Md., when the collision occurred. Her skipper is John A. Glynn.

The Gulfstream, owned by the Gulf Oil Corp., left Philadelphia last night for Kuwait, Persia, and other Persian Gulf ports without cargo. Her skipper is Capt. Henry G. Coyle, of Maywood, N. J.

75-Cent Minimum Wage Is Sought in Two-House Bill

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 19 (AP)—Democrats asked the Legislature today to establish a minimum wage of 75 cents an hour in the state.

In introducing a measure to amend New York's Minimum Wage Law, minority legislative leaders followed the lead of Congressional Democrats who pressed yesterday for swift action to raise the federal statutory minimum from 40 to 75 cents.

Present minimum wage rates in the state, set by the industrial commissioner on recommendation of minimum wage boards, vary in different industries.

The federal wage rate increase would apply in business engaged in interstate commerce. The federal increase is one of the basic points in President Truman's economic program.

Legislation for a state minimum of 75 cents was introduced by Senator Elmer F. Quinn and Assemblyman Irwin Steingut, minority leaders.

The state C.I.O. has called for a $1 hourly minimum.

Quinn and Steingut also introduced bills which would: 1—Provide $3 weekly for dependents of those receiving unemployment insurance benefits. No dependent allowance is paid at present.

2—Increase minimum weekly unemployment insurance benefits from $10 to $15 and the maximum from $26 to $30.

3—Broaden unemployment insurance law coverage to include employers of one or more employees.

4—Increase workmen's compensation benefits from the present minimum of $12 to $20 and from the present maximum of $32 to $35.

Meanwhile, there was no let-up on Capitol Hill in the Republican-Democratic squabbling over how the state's $697,300,000 postwar reconstruction fund had been spent or appropriated.

The Democrats had demanded a "full accounting" of the fund, charging the public had been short-changed and that the fund had become a "huge slush fund."

Second Reaccounting by G.O.P. Republican leaders presented the second of what they promised would be an item by item, department by department reaccounting of the Dewey administration's handling of the fund.

The first on Monday night dealt with emergency veterans' housing appropriations from the fund and the second yesterday with mental hospital projects.

The Republicans said that $82,785,450 had been appropriated from the fund for mental hygiene of which $6,802,495 had been spent through December 31. They said an additional $1,813,224 had been placed under contract as of December 31 and that $74,169,731 would be utilized just as soon as it is possible to obtain contracts and get the construction work started.

Democratic leaders then demanded an accounting of the $6,802,495. They said the Republican report was "a lump sum announcement that gives no inkling of where this $6,802,495 has been spent nor where the balance is to be spent."

The Democratic statement, issued by Quinn and Steingut, said Republican leaders informed the public "that it was impossible during the war years and to date, because of high construction costs and shortage of manpower, to go ahead with the building program for mental hygiene institutions."

"How," Quinn and Steingut asked, "was it possible then to undertake the construction of 568 miles of highway?" "It is tragic that this administration has not been able to add one new bed for each new mile of highway constructed. The administration condemns itself when it publicly admits it is more concerned with paving bricks than bodies and minds."

Wicks Assails 'Bricks' A statement by Senate Finance Committee Chairman Arthur H. Wicks and Assembly Ways and Means Committee Chairman D. Dudley Stephens said:

"We assume that their (the Democratic) 'paving bricks' statement was written by persons close to a former Democratic national chairman and presently a Democratic county leader, who should know all about paving bricks and blocks."

In 1942, Flynn was accused of using city labor and materials to pave a courtyard at his Lake Mahopac summer home. A Bronx county grand jury, which investigated the charge, cleared him.

President Begins

Mr. Truman's engagements today included lunch with the Democratic Committee's Finance Committee, dinner with the presidential electors (7 p. m.) and attendance at the inaugural gala.

The Chief Executive will wear tails, silk topper and white tie to the latter two affairs.

But it was a President in burlap and black tie who attended the Truman-Barkeley dinner with Mrs. Truman and their daughter, Margaret.

The dinner carried all the enthusiasm and noise of a campaign affair, so many bought tickets guests were crowded into the lobby and into surrounding dining rooms.

In the main ballroom were old comrades from Battery D, 121st Field Artillery.

Bob Hannegan, former Democratic national chairman, had a balcony table. Former Chairman James A. Farley sat in the main ballroom with Senator McKellar (D-Tenn.) president pro tempore of the Senate.

Barkeley praised the Truman-Barkeley Club members as "corner stones in the vineyards of the Lord" and recalled their efforts in winning victory despite opposition "of most of the metropolitan press, the radio commentators and the poll takers."

attitude toward Russia and the spread of Soviet Communism.

Those who opposed Acheson based their argument on the charge that he has been "an appeaser of Russia." Senator Wiley (R-Neb.) used those words in yesterday's debate.

In his public appearance before the Foreign Relations Committee last Thursday and in his testimony during the committee's closed session Friday, Acheson denounced such charges and stated his opposition to world Communism.

He avoided any specific public commitment on his future policies in dealing with the Soviet Union. Nevertheless, he will take office as a result of Senate approval based on his own statement and on the arguments of his friends that he is not an "appeaser."

Those who voted against Acheson's nomination in addition to Wiley were Senators Capelart (R-Ind.), J. Gurnea (R-Ind.), Bridges (R-N.H.), Knowland (R-Calif.) and Langer (R-N.D.).

As to Acheson's views on Russia, Vandenberg said the question could be turned around to ask what the Russians think of Acheson. He declared that Acheson had been "bitterly assailed" by them.

Acheson served as undersecretary of state until 18 months ago when he resigned to return to private law practice. He was replaced by Lovett at that time. Now his own undersecretary is due to be James E. Webb, Mr. Truman's present budget director.

Rooms Are Needed During Convention

The demand for rooms in Kingston exceeds the supply during the annual sessions of the New York State Horticultural Society here next week. The Chamber of Commerce has a large number of requests for rooms, particularly single rooms and a check with the hotels yesterday showed that they were completely filled. Reservations will be made for visitors in tourist and private homes. The Chamber of Commerce would appreciate it if operators of tourist homes or tourist cabins would report available rooms. There is a strong possibility that additional rooms in private homes will be needed, particularly for Wednesday and Thursday nights of next week.

Indications are that the attendance at the sessions Wednesday, Thursday and Friday will exceed previous years. The early demand for rooms is greater. Albert Kurdt, executive secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, expressed the hope this morning that hotels, tourist homes operators and private homes with available rooms, would cooperate in making all visitors feel welcome, and making their stay in Kingston as pleasant as possible.

Fined for Transporting Dynamite in Coupe

New York, Jan. 19 (AP)—Two Westchester men pleaded guilty and were fined yesterday in Bronx Magistrate's Court by Magistrate Abraham Bloch on charges of illegally transporting dynamite to a Bronx construction job last December 16.

The men had been charged by the fire department with transporting the explosives in a coupe.
The administrative code requires that dynamite be transported in either a horse-drawn vehicle or a vehicle propelled by electric power.

The men are Russel Sayers, of 125 Fifth avenue, Pelham, and Robert Knapp, of 519 Second avenue, New Rochelle. Sayers was fined $250 or 60 days in jail and received a suspended sentence of three months. Knapp was fined $100. Both paid their fines.

John Chambers, of the fire department's legal bureau, suggested the lower fine for Knapp because he is a veteran.
Sayers and Knapp were arrested
December 16 by Inspector Fred Bullit, of the Bureau of Com-bustibles, as they delivered the dynamite to a construction job at Webb avenue and Devoe Terrace, the Bronx. Chambers pointed out to the court that the Kingsbridge Veterans Hospital is nearby and might have been "blown-up" if a mistake had occurred.

Bullit said he found the dynamite wrapped in blankets in the car. Sayers and Knapp told the court they used the passenger car for transporting the dynamite because their regular vehicle had broken down.

the boss's office. For generations, England had to stand ready to fight to enforce peace and discipline in the far places, English people were familiar, some by travel and service, others by hearsay, with places that Americans had scarcely heard of. Actually, the British had to do little fighting and most of that was done by the most degraded huns who could be dredged from the slums of London, Liverpool and other old cities. The officers had class so the British rift-raft got by against other bad soldiers of their time and came to be revered, as is the custom in civilized nations, as gallant heroes of the night.

London-Lase was a fraud but the new economic cooperation administration is a swindle born of the fraud. We got used to kidding ourselves with euphemisms to disguise as fair transactions great gifts of American goods, food and material, all representing the human work of millions of American people and the irreplaceable treasure in the ground, oil, copper and steel.

Our new system of saving shattered countries from the predatory aggressor—this time our late gallant ally the Muscovite—is devouring us. About 60 per cent of the terrible Truman budget is for war business past, present and future. Most of that represents our gifts to non-Communist countries in a sad, belated hope of organizing them to fight Stalin. Roosevelt recognized Russia and we built up Russia to this terrible strength.

Now we are feeding up the disgusted people of shattered countries without real governments to fight the Russians and let us use their countries as battlegrounds, thus saving our own again from wear and tear of war. These people will soak up all we send them and bawl for more. But if they fight for us they take a chance of being shot as collaborators by the conquering Russian according to the war guilt precedents of Nuremberg.

The British made a business of empire and drew profits in business—like way. We abhor empire and actually were to blame for the dissolution of the British empire with big talk about democracy.

We are in debt so deep we can't see out. We have inflation. We have for president an ignorant, ordinary fellow with a malicious streak who happened to get elected by a mess of circumstances in a time that calls for great wisdom and consecrated patriotism.
When we might have shown some dignity, power and moral leadership a conceited man went flapping off to Cairo, Teheran and Yalta to smirk in the pictures wearing an admiral's cape that he wasn't entitled to, always calling on Joe Stalin, never making Stalin come to him.

Valuable Painting Returned
New York, Jan. 19 (AP)—A valuable painting, stolen from the Metropolitan Museum of Art almost five years ago, has been returned in the mails by an unknown sender. Museum officials said yesterday that the small 14th-century painting, St.
Thomas, valued at between $2,000 and $5,000, was received in a parcel post package last Friday. The package, wrapped in plain brown paper, carried a Bronx postmark.
The painting, attributed to Simone Martini, an Italian, has been the only art work stolen from the museum in 22 years. It was ratched from a gallery wall March 22, 1944, during an exhibition.

Mrs. Drago Holds No Ill-Will for Bombing of Home

New York, Jan. 19 (AP)—Pretty Mrs. Kay Drago says she isn't angry at George Caron for taking part in the atom bombing of her home, but she says it mustn't happen again.

Mrs. Drago, now the wife of a Camden, N. J., veteran, was living in Hiroshima when the atom bomb was dropped there. Caron, of Wantagh, N. Y., was a tail-runner on the B-29 that dropped it.

Last night, the two met on a Mutual Broadcasting System radio program.

She said she was "very honored" and felt "no antagonism" at all toward the ex-flier.
"Right after the bomb," she said, "I couldn't imagine that Americans could do such a thing.
I know them as peace-loving people. I thought it would be a German trick. But when I found out it saved so many lives, I was glad."

But, she added, "it must not happen again."

"Amien," said Caron.
Mrs. Drago, the daughter of White Russians who settled in Japan more than 20 years ago, said she was doing housework
when the bomb exploded.

She said there was a "flash like lightning," then "smoke or gas" darkening the skies, and later,
"fires that sprang up from nowhere to set the grass and trees on fire."

She said her home "exploded and went up in the air" but she escaped with only a slight cut on her head.

She said she was not exposed to radioactivity, apparently because she was indoors. She said she saw many Japanese who "turned completely black" weeks or months after the blast and died.

The Atomic Energy Commission, which approved the script for the show, said it had no record of bomb victims "turning black."

"I don't care how many times they say that," Mrs. Drago said.
"I saw it with my own eyes."
She married Paul Drago, of (440 Clinton street) Camden, after the war's end while he was serving with U. S. occupation forces in Japan.

Railroads Plan Service Charges on Coach Seats

New York, Jan. 18 (AP)—The New York Central and Pennsylvania railroads plan to put a service charge on coach seat reservations.

The two railroads announced the plan yesterday. They explained it as a move to discourage last-minute cancellations. The Pennsylvania's charge would be $1 while the Central's would range from 50 cents to $1.

The new tariffs, filed with the Interstate Commerce Commission, would be effective February 1.

The service charge would be refunded only if the reservation were released within a specified time before departure of the train. Where the space is used, the charge would be considered a fee for the reservation.

The New York Central said the charge would be 50 cents for trips up to and including 350 miles; 75 cents from 350 to 600 miles and $1 for more than 600 miles.
New York Central trains affected would include the Pacemaker,

New York to Chicago; the Empire
State Express, New York to Burfalo, Cleveland and Detroit; James Whitcomb Riley, Cincinnati to Chicago; The Mercury, Cleveland to Detroit and Chicago; the Southwestern Limited, New York to St. Louis, and the Paul Revere, Boston to Chicago.

Backstage Fire

Firemen had some difficulty in reaching the blaze which was between the floor of the stage and a new heating blower unit for distribution of heat. The fire was near a stage door exit and extended six or seven feet back from the exit, the chief said.

A section of the flooring was removed with openings at two ends so that the firemen could get at the blaze. The big ladder on the new aerial truck was also used in opening ventilation outlets on the roof so that smoke could escape, the chief said.

Three lines of hose were attached for use but only one was necessary in fighting the fire which was quenched in about 15 minutes.

The fire stirred little alarm of excitement in the audience which filed out into the lobby apparently expecting the film to be resumed, but the fire chief advised against continuation of the picture pending completion of an inspection in the fire area.

Michael Ross, an employee of the theatre went back stage to find the source of the smoke after he had been notified by someone in the audience and he sounded the alarm from the box not far from the exit of the theatre.

Chief Murphy said today that his inspection had not been completed, but from what could be determined to date, the apparent cause of the blaze was a "break-down in a Bx cable" under the floor area.

A short circuit was apparently set up in the line, the chief said, and it was observed that two exit lights had been out.

The fire under the stage was apparently not hot enough to set off a sprinkler system which would have prevented a serious spread of the blaze. Damage was slight, the chief said, but it could have been more serious had the fire started late at night or in the early morning.

An asbestos curtain was dropped near the front of the stage soon after discovery of the fire.

The blaze was the second at the theatre this month. The other in a section of film New Year's Eve caused a slight stir in the audience during a late show. It was confined to the projection room and was checked by theatre employees before firemen arrived.

Mitchum Sues Cottage Owner for Use of Name

Los Angeles, Jan. 19 (AP)—Robert Mitchum has sued the owner of the Laurel Canyon Cottage where he and three others were arrested on marijuana charges. The movie actor is under conviction on charges of conspiracy to possess the narcotic.

Nanette Bordeaux, owner of the Cottage, had sued Mitchum and the others for $2,500 damages as trespassers after the place had been sublet to actress Lila Leeds, convicted with Mitchum January 10.

In a counter suit yesterday, the actor asked $10,000 damages of Miss Bordeaux, herself an actress, on the grounds that she invaded his right of privacy in an advertisement to sell the furnishings of the Cottage.

"Robert Mitchum sat here," his complaint quoted the ad. "Charming sofa and arm chair. New slip covers hide cigarette burns. $15. Souvenir hunters have taken everything else."

Mitchum asserted he hadn't authorized use of his name.

The "pennyweight" originally was the weight of the English penny.

Theatre Fire Is Checked

Vogel, representative of the Board of Underwriters of Albany, and Captain Wright Maines of the Kingston Fire Department, inspect the damage caused by a fire in the stage of Rende's Kingston Theatre Tuesday afternoon. Also shown in the photo is Stanley Joseph Stephano. The fire, which interrupted the afternoon performance at the uptown theatre, was between the floor of the stage and a room housing the blower unit for distribution of heat. (Freeman Photo)

Evidence Lacking In Train Rape; No One Is Held

Los Angeles, Jan. 19 (AP)—Mrs. Opal Holmes, who reported she was raped in a berth on a speeding train, believes her attacker was "a Negro in long underwear."

Under a physician's care at the home of Los Angeles relatives, Mrs. Holmes, 35, mother of two sons, through her husband, Chester, gave reporters what he called her first coherent account of what happened aboard the South Pacific's West Coast Limited near Oakridge, Ore., at 2:15 a. m. last Saturday.

Holmes, who has been living with his wife at North Richland, Wash., and working as an electrician at the Hanford Atomic plant, flew here to comfort his distraught wife. He said yesterday she related that:

During a train stop at Portland, Ore., Friday night she had two highballs with an elderly woman train acquaintance. Later on the train she joined a penny ante poker game, drinking a bottle and a half of beer before she retired. She did not see any of her club car companions after she got off the car to go to her berth.

She did not see her attacker, who she said crept into her berth while she was asleep. After she screamed, a serviceman in a berth across the aisle and another sleeping nearby told her they saw a Negro wearing long underwear running through the aisle.

She was examined by Coroner George Adler of Klamath Falls, Ore., when the train stopped there and was held for 4½ hours for investigation by Dist. Atty. Dayton Van Vactor. She said Dr. Adler gave his opinion that she had been raped.

The investigation continued all the way to Los Angeles where on Sunday two sailors were questioned for 7½ hours, then released.

Oregon authorities said they do not have evidence on which to justify arrests. Railroad and Pullman Co. special agents said no one is in custody. The agents said all members of the train and Pullman crews were subjected to the investigation.

Action Is Carried Over

Tuesday in Supreme Court a negligence action brought by Antoinette Marella against The Church of St. Mary, Kingston, went over the term when counsel for the plaintiff, Charles J. Sacco, with consent of Justice Harry E. Schirlick withdrew from the case. The firm of Cook & Cook appeared for the defendant. The action arises out of injuries which plaintiff suffered in a fall on the steps of the church property while leaving the property after Mass. Court adjourned until 10 o'clock today.

EGGS MAKE TASTY MAIN DISHES

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Staff Writer

With eggs more abundant and lower in price, it is time to use them more liberally. Here are two main-dish egg recipes for your budget menus:

Main Dish Egg Salad

(4 to 6 servings)

Four hard-cooked eggs, 4 boiled potatoes, chilled and diced, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon pepper, 1 teaspoon onion juice, 1 tablespoon minced fresh dill or 1/2 teaspoon dill seed, French dressing, watercress or lettuce, thin slices smoked salmon or herring.

Cut the eggs in cubes or slices; combine with the potatoes and season with the salt, pepper, onion juice and dill or dill seed. Chill. Arrange watercress or lettuce on a salad platter; place thin slices of smoked salmon or herring on the watercress; pile the egg mixture on top; sprinkle lightly with French dressing.

Creamed Hard-Cooked Egg Pie

(6 servings)

Six to 8 hard-cooked eggs, 1 1/2 cups thick white sauce, 1/2 cup chopped celery, 1/2 cup minced watercress, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon pepper, 1/2 teaspoon celery salt, pastry for 2-crust pie.

Cook the eggs; let them cool; shell; cut in thick slices. Combine with the white sauce, celery and watercress; add the seasonings and mix. Line a deep pie dish with pastry; fill with the creamed egg mixture; cover with top crust; pierce with slashes to let the steam out. Crimp edge; bake in a hot oven 425 degrees F. 15 minutes; reduce heat to 350 degrees F. and bake 15 minutes longer or till the crust is browned.

Scott, Who Says He's Boss, Favors Middle-Road Policy

Washington, Jan. 19 (AP)—It'll be a middle-of-the-road Republican party if National Chairman Hugh D. Scott has anything to say about it.

And if any Republican thinks Scott is going to roll over, play dead and take his orders from any of the big bank roll boys or possible presidential candidates, Scott says he has another think coming.

The 48-year-old chairman made it plain to me he looks upon himself as a four-year man, intends to have a voice in forming Republican policy and is ready for any kind of scrap that comes his way.

Some members of the Republican National Committee have been taking pot shots at Scott. Installed hurriedly at the G.O.P. National Convention in June, he will go into a session of the committee in Omaha January 25 and 26 still a stranger to about half of its members.

But he isn't worried about the outer efforts by some of those who are disgusted with the way the election turned out.

"Everybody knows," he said, "that I didn't have anything to do with running the campaign, although I made 80 speeches for the candidates."

Scott played a third or fourth fiddle in the campaign band, which was directed by Gov. Thomas E. Dewey's personal friend, Herbert Brownell Jr.

Now Scott is determined to take over the baton and—with some concessions to congressional leaders—he seems in a fair way to get the nod.

Would Weld Party
What he has in mind, Scott said, is to weld together a party that has its conservatives and its liberals but is made up mostly of the middle-of-the-road folk he thinks can cast a lot of votes if they are stirred up.

"I'm a middle of the roader, myself," he said. "I think my record is good in Congress, and I'm willing to stand on it."

Like a lot of his Republican colleagues in the House Scott voted for the Taft-Hartley Act, which was assailed so bitterly by President Truman during the campaign.

Mr. Truman's friends class most Taft-Hartley supporters as "reactionary." On the other hand, they are likely to regard those who support the administration's reciprocal trade agreement program as "liberals."

Scott reminded that he had voted for that program three times as a member from the sixth Pennsylvania district.

"I even tried to keep the New Deal's National Youth Administration alive in the period before the war," he said. "I did it because I thought that was one way to get war workers trained."

Picked Up Ideas

Scott picked up some ideas about scrapping during the war. He went into Japan on the first day of occupation as a lieutenant commander, serving or a short time under Harold B. Stassen, then a commander.

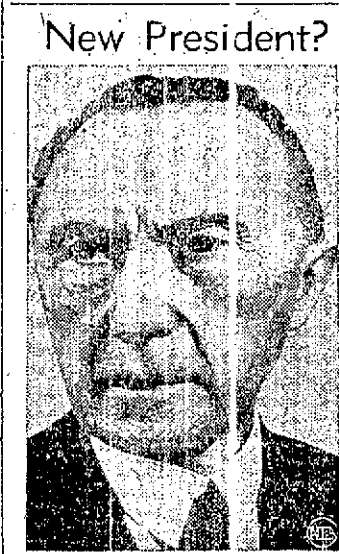

Stassen is one of Scott's constituents, and they see each other frequently. But that doesn't mean, the chairman said, that he's a supporter of Stassen, who is looked upon as a likely candidate for the G.O.P. presidential nomination in 1952.

"I know all the other potential candidates, and I'm friendly with them, too," he said.

Although he owes his job to Dewey, Scott said he is accepting at face value the New York governor's statement that he will never be a presidential candidate again.

Fort Worth, Tex., Jan. 19 (AP)—Comedian Hugh Herbert is being sued for divorce. They were married in Detroit in 1917 and have no children. Mrs. Herbert's petition said she resumed her residence here after the separation. Court approval of a property settlement reached last September was asked.

Saugerties Plant Will Do Work on Washing Machines

Certain machining and sub-assembly operations for the General Electric automatic washer will be done at the Saugerties branch plant of General Electric on East Bridge street. It was announced recently by Henry Sedlak, plant manager. These operations will be conducted in addition to the electrical work which has been carried on at the plant.

While the new operation will undoubtedly require some increase in employment at the local plant, the amount will be predicated on future plans as they develop.

Do You Remember

by SOPHIE MILLER

I received a very nice card from a school teacher and she wants something on the old Plank Road.

According to my idea, the Plank Road was always over the viaduct, but according to the following which took place at a March 6, 1897 Common Council meeting at which time Mayor Wieber stated he was doing business at No. 12 Plank Road, City of Wilbur it takes the Plank Road in a different part of town. Mayor Wieber continued with the following:

When he became a resident of Kingston in 1894, there was no communication between Kingston and the docks at Rondout and Columbus Point especially during the spring months. Horses got stuck in the thick mud and the passengers of the stages had to walk home on foot. When he was elected mayor in 1878 these avenues were occupied by a Plank Road Company. He described the road as a patchwork of beams across the three-mile road with other beams over them. In his 1897 speech he says, since then Wall street has been paved for two blocks with stone blocks from the coast of Main, North Front street and part of Washington avenue and even part of the Strand with stone blocks from Ulster county's own blue stone quarries. So I take it a large section of Kingston, or three miles of it anyway was known then as the Plank Road because of its construction. I am sure I had heard somewhere that there was a toll gate and one had to pay the company to use their road. Who remembers more on it?

Here is another question which was brought to my attention by a newspaper man who said, "With all the thousands of words written about the Mary Powell. Who was the girl she was named after?" I don't know, do any of my readers. It is true I have kept and read most all the items I could find on the Queen of the Hudson but never a word have I found on "Who was the real Mary Powell?" Who remembers?

Woodstock Forum Speakers Discuss Labor Laws, Views

Woodstock, Jan. 19—Repealing the Taft-Hartley law and re-enacting the Wagner Act without changes would be a disastrous thing for labor, Mrs. Elinore M. Herrick, former regional director of the National Labor Relations Board, declared during the Woodstock Forum Monday night.

During her talk, the speaker based her prediction on the fact that "without any change, organized labor will so prolong and drag out talks and possible amendments that we will very likely go into another session of Congress without seeing anything constructive done on the national level."

On the other hand, Frieda

Schwenkmeyer, national representative of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America, speaking on the platform with Mrs. Herrick, argued that not only should the Taft-Hartley bill be repealed but the Wagner Act strengthened considerably to really protect the rights of labor.

"I believe that the Wagner Act should be re-enacted but that certain provisions of the Taft-Hartley law should be incorporated in it. For instance, I believe the Taft-Hartley law proviso calling for the freedom of speech for employers should be extended under the Wagner Act," continued Mrs. Herrick, personnel director and member of the editorial staff of the New York Herald Tribune, who during the war was director of personnel and labor relations for the Todd Shipyards Corporation. She told her listeners that if Congress is thwarted by labor in its effort to enact a law, fair to both management and labor, "I think labor will see a real turning of the worm and that is the public."

Events Are Enumerated

Events leading up to the passage of the Taft-Hartley law were enumerated by Mrs. Herrick who remarked that she had had an opportunity to see the employer's point of view during the war years at the Todd Shipyards. She mentioned particularly the "paralyzing effect of coal, steel, etc., strikes upon American industry." Said the speaker, "In the operation of the Wagner Act, there had grown up a feeling that was pretty strong, the public opinion that the Wagner Act was pretty one-sided. There was no requirement upon unions to bargain collectively in good faith although employers were required to do so. The new law required collective bargaining on the part of the unions." She admitted that in the vast majority of cases unions want to bargain collectively but there were some who "behaved dictatorially with an attitude of sign here or else." The abuses, she stated, were confined to a very small percentage but they "stuck out like a sore thumb."

The non-Communist oath requirement of the Taft-Hartley Law described as one which has been most bitterly assailed, was said to have served its purpose and that, said Mrs. Herrick, is dictatorial with an attitude of sign here or else. The abuses, she stated, were confined to a very small percentage but they "stuck out like a sore thumb."

According to Miss Schwenkmeyer, "the workers in this country don't happen to like one single thing about the Taft-Hartley Act, and they consider its repeal of such importance that they assailed the world last November." She said that the workers believe it is a law to strangle and kill them. "They hate it," she said, "because of its provisions for delaying tactics on the part of the employer, complications, differences of interpretation, differences that would get unions to fight each other and even get the people within the same union to fight each other."

In the role of organizer, Miss Schwenkmeyer, described some of the experiences encountered during her work in the south, particularly in the states of Tennessee, Mississippi and Alabama. She spoke of mob scenes, Tommy guns, and tear gas, which were "used by employers in an effort to thwart the workers."

Opinions on Emergencies Both speakers made reference to national emergencies brought about by strikes. In the opinion of Mrs. Herrick, it was the duty of the government to protect the public from such strikes. Miss Schwenkmeyer, on the other hand asked the listeners, "Isn't it a national emergency if people don't have houses to put over their heads, don't have enough money to go to doctors and dentists, or have enough food to put in their stomachs? Aren't the lack of these necessities just as serious as having miners stop work for a few days?" She warned those present of more serious emergencies should the rights of labor be minimized when she said, "You are going to have more serious national emergencies on your hands than you have today... far more serious."

Her early days in Kingston were recalled by the speaker when she remarked, "I remember when we first came to Kingston. Twenty-five cents an hour was a lot of money." We learned that the minimum wage now in the garment industry is 65 cents an hour. Miss Schwenkmeyer said that too many industries moved out of town and cities where a minimum living wage had to be paid and said she "we are trying to get more unions so that jobs in Kingston will stay in Kingston."

To prove her point, she cited the case of a manufacturer who set up a plant south of the Mason-Dixon line because of extremely low wages and asked, "Isn't it your responsibility to think about people in other parts of the country?"

The ban on the closed shop which the Taft-Hartley law provides was discussed by Mrs. Herrick who commented "Personally, I have always felt that as an employer I would rather operate under a closed shop provision. It leads to peace and harmony in the shop."

She was not in favor of a closed union, however. About the handling of strikes and disputes tending toward national emergencies, Mrs. Herrick had this to say, "I don't see how labor can expect the government to sit by with folded hands and do nothing, or merely offer their good services as conciliators when a strike threatens to paralyze the industry of this country and throw millions of persons out of work through no fault of their own. The provisions of the Taft-Hartley Act are about as good as can be arrived at for dealing with these situations. They won't work perfectly any more than the Railway Labor Act but by and large, the requirement that a major strike be deferred for further efforts of mediation and to persuade the parties to consent to arbitration is a very reasonable approach. I think, the government has not only the right but the duty to get a court order in such case and protect its citizens."

Continuing, "I believe the work of conciliation and mediation taken out of the department of labor by the Taft-Hartley Law, should stay out. The department of labor has been the spokesman but the functions which the government performs must be done from the standpoint of the public interest, the public welfare, from a neutral position, and when those services were within the department of labor, they were not administered impartially, as they have been under the Taft-Hartley Law, and resulted in employers losing confidence in the fairness of the conciliators. In the over all picture, I believe it was warranted. I had the experience myself during the war."

Summing up, Mrs. Herrick approved the requirement for organized labor bargaining in good faith, approaching the closed shop from the standpoint of permitting it when unions have an open door for new members; scrapping the non-Communist oath; abandonment of much of the attempt to regulate actions of unions; putting pressure on everybody involved in the collective bargaining process, and above all to keep the law simple.

It was announced at the opening of the Forum that the program committee had made every effort to secure a third speaker for the discussion of the Taft-Hartley Law but to no avail. Walter S. Van Wageningen, moderator, told the large audience that seven out of 10 persons recommended by the National Chamber of Commerce refused the invitation to speak for the law as it now stands because of their belief that the law would be revised.

The next Forum will take place on February 14 when the topic will be "Christian Brotherhood." The names of the speakers were not announced but will be a rabbi, Catholic priest, and Protestant minister.

Riding Club Takes Property Option

Woodstock, Jan. 19—An option on a 19-acre tract of land situated on the Ohayo Mountain has been taken by the Woodstock Riding Club through the action of its board of directors. A special meeting of the entire membership for the purpose of discussing the purchase of this property now owned by Victor Cannon and other important questions will be held Tuesday evening, January 25, in the Odd Fellows Hall, Bearsville.

Members of the board met last Thursday evening in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Cutler, Kingston, at which time it was also decided to change the date of the horse show scheduled for July 3 to June 26. The reason given for the change was the fact that many of the larger stables could not participate in the show if it were held during the holiday week-end.

Some discussion also was had at the meeting regarding the advisability of the club's applying for membership in the American Horse Show Association for the purpose of holding recognized shows. Individual members of the association, Mrs. Cutler and Mrs. Virgil VanWagoner, reported on the recent annual meeting which they attended at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel, New York, during which certain changes in the association's rule book were called to the attention of the members. Minimum premiums for "A," "B" and "C" class shows were also reported upon and it was the general feeling of the directors that the Woodstock Riding Club was not yet ready to assume this responsibility.

A few more of the important amendments to the rules voted by the directors of the American Horse Show Association follow:

1. In the future a professional show manager shall not be eligible to serve as steward or member of the riding committee.
2. In a sweepstake class providing for division of entry fees the total to be dispersed shall include all the fees of all entries listed in the catalogue whether or not the horses are shown.
3. Hereafter the standard specifications must be used in connection with the classes described, the word "must" being substituted for the former word "should." This is to the end that uniformity may prevail in performance and in adjudication. This rule does not limit shows to those classes listed in the rule book but is operative in connection with all classes so listed.
4. The application blank for junior membership will hereafter require a statement of date of

In William Pachner's One-Man Show

Woodstock, Jan. 19—Two of William Pachner's paintings, "Moses" and "Israel," are currently on display in the artist's one-man show at the American Associated Artists Galleries in New York. Another large painting on display is "Jacob Wrestling With the Angel." (Wagenfahr Photos).

Pachner's Three Paintings Feature Gotham Exhibition

Woodstock, Jan. 19—Since the opening last week of William Pachner's one man show consisting of three large paintings and a number of drawings of this work, at the American Associated Artists Galleries, the artist has received numerous requests from various publications for permission to reproduce "Moses," "Jacob Wrestling With the Angel" and "Israel," on view at the Galleries. In his canvasses, Pachner portrays a sincere feeling of hope for the future of mankind which surmounts the tragedies which have been and are still being experienced throughout the world.

A tribute to the artist is the acquisition of a large drawing of "Moses" by the prominent director of Carnegie, Homer Saint-Gaudens, who it was learned visited the exhibition Saturday afternoon. Another important purchase is that by the well known sculptor, David Cusack who took one of the drawings for her collection.

Ever since the opening day, when about 100 Woodstockers were present at the Galleries, we hear of others making the trip to New York to see these magnificent paintings which have been described by so many persons as "soul satisfying," "inspirational," and "beautiful" both in message and color. The first of the three works, "Israel," was shown to a privileged few in Miss Alice Wardwell's studio, Byrdcliffe, last summer. Since that time, the other two paintings in the series of three, have been awaited with great anticipation.

"This is a major effort that commands respect," writes critic Howard Devree, in his column for the New York Times. He also stated "the artist has set himself a too ambitious project." About

May Family Expresses Appreciation to Public

Woodstock, Jan. 19—In a letter to your correspondent, August May, whose Wittenberg home was recently destroyed by fire, writes "many thanks to your splendid organization, The Kingston Daily Freeman, and their co-operation and write-ups."

Other excerpts from the letter follow: "I cannot express in mere words my inner emotions and thoughts toward each and every individual, groups, persons, friends and relations. In my own humble, simple way, I have prayed to God to bless each and every one of you who have been so kind and thoughtful and who have and still are working hard to help me. The real meaning of community spirit is expressed in their good deeds and actions. The groups and individuals who have helped us in so many ways, are too numerous to mention.

Early in the morning of January 2, August May, his wife and eight children were made homeless as a result of a fire which destroyed their home and their entire possessions. Since then, the generosity of many individuals and organizations has made it possible for the May family to occupy a house furnished, completely through donations, plans for a new house are now being drawn up. More than ample clothing has been given this family as well as substantial cash donations. Building of the new house is expected to get underway in the near future.

New Paltz Professor Addresses League

Professor James L. Hymes of the Education Department of New Paltz Teachers College addressed the members of the Junior League of Kingston and their guests at a meeting held Monday at the home of Mrs. Walter Elston, 225 Manor avenue. Mrs. Elston's daughter, Mrs. Andrew Gilday, together with Mrs. Paul Perlman and Mrs. William Anderson were hostesses for the afternoon.

Professor Hymes emphasized the physical and psychological needs of children from birth until school age. He stressed the necessity of companions of their own age for all little children. When questioned about older children, he suggested that his ideas could be applied in developing a well adjusted child in any age group.

Dr. Hymes emphasized the great need for adequately trained personnel in the school systems and said this fact should be a source of concern to everyone. He suggested that promising young people be encouraged to enter the teaching field because of the vast work that must be accomplished if the schools are to produce adults equipped to work and willing to work.

FORMAL DINNER PROBLEM

The perplexity of the following letter is not unusual: "At a very formal dinner given for the governor of the state, you have said it is necessary that this man, guest of honor be seated on the right of the hostess and also take her into dinner. Will you explain how it is possible in this case to have all of the gentlemen seated their partners on their right when the Governor must sit on the right of the hostess?"

This is done by sending the lady who is to sit on the right of the Governor and the gentleman who is to sit on the left of the hostess into dinner together, but who then part company after he seats her in her place at the right of the Governor and then takes his place at the left of the hostess.

What to Tell Parents of Bride and Groom

Dear Mrs. Post: Please tell us what is the customary thing to say to the parents of the bride and groom at the wedding reception?

Answer: To the bride's mother, comment on the beauty of the wedding details as well as the attractiveness of the bride and groom. To the groom's family make any enthusiastic and appreciative comment about both bride and groom.

Forgotten Maid

Dear Mrs. Post: When is the customary time to tip a hotel chambermaid? I usually leave my room early, return late in the day from shopping or the theatre and never saw the maid who takes care of my room.

Answer: Before going out any morning, telephone the hotel operator to send the chambermaid to your room. It is not likely that you go out often before she is on duty!

Refusing A Cocktail

Dear Mrs. Post: At a cocktail party what is the most graceful way to refuse a drink?

Answer: "No, thank you" is usually enough. Say it with a pleasant and not disapproving manner. You may add, "But I would love to have tomato juice if you have it."

Mrs. Post says, "An afternoon tea is the most popular as well as the simplest expression of hospitality that exists." How to give a tea and what to serve is explained in Let's Do It, E-27. To obtain a copy, send 5 cents in coin and a stamped self-addressed envelope to her, c/o The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station C, New York 19, N. Y. The bride wore an aquamarine suit with brown accessories and corsage of yellow rosebuds. Her sister, Miss Marion Dunham, as maid of honor, wore an aquamarine dress with brown accessories and a corsage of pink sweetpeas. Merritt Stevens of Sawkill was best man for his brother.

A reception was held at the home of the bridegroom's grandmother, Mrs. Grace Stevens in Southampton, L. I. Afterward the couple left for a wedding trip to New York. They will make their home at 152 1/2 St. James street.

Mrs. Stevens attended Sweetshorn High School in New Jersey and Mr. Stevens, Southampton High School. He is an army veteran of World War 2. Both are employed by Waller Reade Theatres. (Pennington Photo.)

Wallkill Teachers Announce Play For Scholarship Fund

The Wallkill Teachers Association is presenting the farce, "Adam's Evening," by Katherine Kavanaugh at the Wallkill Central School Auditorium February 25 and 26. The play, produced by special arrangement with the Dramatic Publishing Company of Chicago, is being given for the purpose of raising funds for the scholarship fund maintained by the Teachers Association of Wallkill.

A scholarship of $100 is granted each year to a member of the graduating class for help in his further education. In addition, a loan fund has been established for the purpose of further aiding worthy students. These loans do not become interest bearing until two years after graduation from college.

The play itself makes admirable use of the acting talents of an accomplished faculty. Adam Adams, an unassuming husband who unwittingly provides the basis for the plot by giving an unlikely excuse for his homecoming in the wee hours of the morning is played by William Topping, supervisor of music. His wife, an attractive and excitable young lady is played by Marion Hall, manager of the cafeteria. Principal supporting characters are played by Mary van de Marck, Vincent DeAngelis, Anne Schenckler, Robert Robinson, May Giovannello, Bernard Fox, Gerald Churchill, and Rosamond Reese.

KINGSTON HIGH BLASTS N.F.A. HOPES, 48 TO 40

R. Scheffel and Rienzo Are Stars In Maroon's 42nd Straight Win

Newburgh's Free Academy's dream castle came tumbling down under the pressure of a relentless, hard driving, undefeated Kingston High School quintet that is steered in success and knows all the tricks when showdown time arrives in any given game.

They should know. Last night's thunderous 48-40 victory over the highly geared Academians before a jam-packed N.F.A. gym furnished the answer to the question of what Kingston can do when the pressure is on.

The Maroon's 42nd consecutive victory was a masterpiece painted by two skilled artists—a couple of young men with ice water in their veins—Ronnie Scheffel, playing the greatest game of his still young career and veteran Mike Rienzo. It may have broken the back for the team that had supplanted Port Jervis as the greatest threat to Kingston's continued domination of the DUSO League.

Lead Three Quarters
In Jay Hodges the Academians have a skilful performer who played magnificently but couldn't do the trick alone. His 18 points matched Ronnie Scheffel for individual honors but he wilted along with his teammates when Kingston moved ahead to stay in the closing minutes of the fourth period.

The final quarter count: Kingston 48, Newburgh 40, tells the real story.

With Hodges unleashing a variety of bewildering shots, Newburgh managed to cling to quarter leads by single point margins until the final period. It was a bruising ball game in which the lead changed hands five times and the score was knotted on five other occasions.

Murray's singleton opened the scoring in a supercharged atmosphere. The Academians were driving hard. It seemed they believed all the exhortations of "Bo" Gill, the faculty, school mates and the nun-in-the-street that they could beat Kingston. They remembered, too, that about a year ago they had almost stopped a more highly rated Maroon squad.

The Long Haul
Scheffel started the pattern for his brilliant work with a followup for a 2-1 Kingston lead.

Keeffe Chambers got a driving layup for 4-1 but Hodges, Murray and Tyler exploded with sensational baskets to put Newburgh ahead 10-8 at the quarter.

A spectacular shot from the left side and a foul by Mike Rienzo sent Kingston ahead 20-19 seconds before the end of the half, only to have Dick Tyler convert two fouls for N.F.A. Holstein missed a foul after the half ended.

With NFA leading 37-36, the fourth quarter started and Bud Scheffel promptly knotted the score with a foul. Holstein hooked one over his head for a 39-37 and Jim Riehl converted a foul. The Newburgh engines cranked wide open. Kingston was out in front to stay and for the remainder of the game NFA was a wild school.

The boxscore:

ing club, constantly lost possession and couldn't hold the puck. Zadikoff's desperate heave from near midcourt cut the Maroon lead to 40-39 but both Scheffels made fouls. Ronnie stole a ball and scored under for 44-39. Zadikoff momentarily stemmed the tide with a singleton. In the last 10 seconds, Rienzo dropped his fourth basket from the side and seconds later Jim Riehl drove through a mob of players for a layup that terminated the contest at 48-40.

Leahy to Quit As Athletic Director
Norfolk, Va., Jan. 19 (AP)—The task of turning out a winning football team is a full-time proposition, so Frank Leahy will quit his job as athletic director at Notre Dame this year.
But the nation's winningest grid coach will stay on at South Bend as head coach of football. And reports that he will accept a position as coach of the Washington Redskins, or any other professional team, are "absolutely false," he said here last night.
Ed (Moose) Kruse, line coach, head basketball coach and assistant athletic director at Notre Dame, probably will fall heir to the job of athletic director, Leahy said, adding:
"He's been doing most of the work for the past few months, anyway. I haven't been able to devote much attention to it."
Denies Quitting
Leahy was most vehement in denying reports that he would join the pro coaching ranks.
"I am very happy at Notre Dame and I contemplate making no change," he said in denying rumors he would confer in Washington today with officials of the Washington Redskins relative to taking over as coach of the team.
He left here late last night for Washington. But he insisted he was going to visit "a friend." The "friend," he said, owned stock in the Redskins but was not an official of the club and no meeting with Washington owners was scheduled.
Leahy was in Norfolk to attend a "Frank Leahy" night meeting of the Norfolk Sports Club.

In The Pocket with CHARLIE TIANO

Joe Wilman, who highlighted the formal opening of Johnny Ferraro's Bowldrome, in pressed us as the most intelligent bowling journeyman we ever encountered. . . . The Berwyn Bomber has class on and off the polished lanes. . . . He is the Ben Hogan of bowling. . . . No matter what tournament or competition he enters, Wilman is the man to beat. . . . Brunswick Balke certainly should be proud of its distinguished representative.

Flotsam and Jetsam:

Bowling 'crush' is terrific these days. . . . The tenpin fever will mount to an unbelievable pitch when Vic Ruzzo's dream house opens. . . . The influx of females is particularly noticeable. . . . Well, God bless them, it was they who brought the bowling game up from the basements and cellars. . . . Proper promotion and guidance of women's bowling can be the eventual salvation of the game in Kingston, when the dog-eat-dog days arrive. . . . Congratulations to Harry Wilbur, a modest young man, who achieved bowling fame Monday night.

Kleiner's Korner:

Atlantic City is reported considering putting on a Salt Water Taffy Bowl football game next New Year's Day. . . . A team will probably have to have a lot of pull to get in. . . . If the Atlantic City plans materialize, the game will be played in the huge auditorium at the shore. . . . Wait until the sports racket probes hear about a game being played under cover. . . . Plenty of football games, the past season were nip and tuck. . . . And many a spectator was nip and nip.

Of Men and Rabbits:

Bob Finger, of Saugerties, chairman of the Federated Sportsmen's Club's rabbit committee, told the group about some of his headaches in contacting member clubs when shipments of rabbits arrive. He said the rabbits are purchased by the Federation via fund, courtesy of the Board of Supervisors. . . . Each member club is given three dozen rabbits (of course that's only the beginning). . . . Rabbits are imported from Missouri. . . . The question of undue depletion of rainbow and brown trout in the Ashokan reservoir will be aired at a Conservation Department hearing scheduled at the court house on Wednesday, Feb. 2, at 8 p. m. . . . Francis J. Schilling and other interested anglers requested the hearing. . . . If you are truly concerned about that Ashokan situation, attend the meeting and speak your piece.

Jake Chichelsky's Chatter:

We believe Ferraro's g and opening was a masterpiece in planning and execution of a lively, interesting program. . . . We were in the SRO section and were able to get a composite reaction of Mr. and Mrs. Average Fan. . . . It seems they all thought it was a wonderful program and went home feeling that this was the greatest night in local bowling history. . . . A team of Kingston koglers representing the Central Lunch has won 13 out of 15 in the Saugerties "A" League. . . . The roster features such notables as Phil Corrado, Ralph Mayone, Mitzie Arlensky and "Dipper" Cole. . . . It is reported they eat their Wheaties with religious punctuality. . . . Outstanding recent splits: Charlie Manfro 4-9; Freddie Rice 4-10; Reta Frederick 6-7; John MacLellan 4-6. . . . Joe Dulin bagged one of those progressive scores in the City Minor League—170-171-172.

Sickler's Delivery was awarded $15 forfeit from West Point in the Orange-Sullivan League. . . . Investigation revealed that the "ice, sleet, rain and fog" that recently prevented the Pointers from keeping a date in Kingston was purely mental.

The Al Cirillo-Jimmy Powers television bowling show via WJZ every Sunday between 10 and 11 p. m., is getting tremendous response in Hudson Valley areas able to pick up Channel 7. . . . Just can't be done here.

Bushnell Clamps Down On Referee Switches

New York, Jan. 19 (AP)—Asa A. Bushnell says he's sorry he changed basketball referees at the insistence of coaches on two occasions recently, and it won't happen again.

The Eastern College Athletic Conference Commissioner, who also heads the bureau that assigns officials, announced a new and firmer policy on this matter in a letter to athletic directors of the more than 40 member colleges.

"The bureau now believes after reviewing the two cases it acted inadvisedly," Bushnell said, "and that in so doing it was undermining its own effectiveness. Therefore it has definitely ruled out any changes of this sort in the future."

Joyce to Talk Friday On Radio for Polio

Twenty-seven active workers are conducting an intensive drive in the March of Dimes project in his territory. It was reported today by William B. Joyce of Kerhonkson, chairman of the Kerhonkson and Rochester area and the Town of Denning.

In announcing that he anticipated splendid results, Chairman Joyce complimented his workers and advised that he would broadcast over WKNY Friday at 7:30 p. m., giving a detailed report on the annual drive in the war on polio, one of the nation's greatest scourges.

"I'm confident that donors in the area of which I have charge will contribute a sizeable amount in the March of Dimes," said Chairman Joyce. He advised that coin cards would be passed out in schools next week.

Joyce, who is proprietor of Indian Valley Inn, Kerhonkson, has plans completed for a March of Dimes ball there Saturday night, featuring special entertainment and a dance. Those who have not purchased tickets may do so at the door.

Private First Class Joseph M. Hickey of Hurley, left, is spending 10 days' leave at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Francis J. Hickey.

Private Hickey enlisted for one year in the U. S. Marine Corps on September 28, 1948, through the Kingston Recruiting Office.

While in basic training at Parris Island, S. C., he trained with Platoon 243. He is shaking hands with Sgt. John Albring, local recruiter.

Young Hickey will return to Parris Island, S. C., after he has completed his leave and expects to be further assigned to one of the many service schools offered by the U. S. Marine Corps. One of the functions he'll attend while home is the third annual ball of the Ulster Detachment, Marine Corps League, at the armory Thursday night.

Private Hickey is one of the many young men who have taken advantage of the one year enlistment offered by the U. S. Marines for 18-year-olds. He will have the privilege of staying in the service at the end of his one year enlistment or of being discharged.

Crosby Will Move To CBS Next Fall

Hollywood, Jan. 19 (AP) — Bing Crosby moves to C.B.S. next fall.

The "Ol' Groaner" is the third prize radio plumb picked by Columbia Broadcasting System in its talent raid on rival networks.

They've snatched him from American Broadcasting Co., less than a month after Jack Benny switched from National Broadcasting Co. to C.B.S. and a few months since Amos 'n' Andy moved from N.B.C. to C.B.S.

William S. Paley, C.B.S. board chairman now in Hollywood, said last night that C.B.S. and Crosby have reached an agreement whereby the singer will be heard over C.B.S. beginning next fall and for an extended period.

It added that the arrangement covers radio and television shows, but no immediate television appearances are planned.

Presumably, the question of whether Bing will be moved from his long-standing Wednesday night spot on the air would be up to his next sponsor, whoever that may be.

Whether Crosby will continue to record his show, as he has done with A.B.C., or return to live broadcasts is another question so far unanswered.

The announcement came the same day the latest Hooper ratings, announced in New York, showed C.B.S. now has seven places in the top 15 Hooper-rated programs, N.B.C. holding five and A.B.C. three.

A.B.C.'s Walter Winchell tops the list, C.B.S.'s Jack Benny and Radio Theater are second and third, respectively, and N.B.C.'s Fibber McGee and Molly is fourth.

Crosby, who has a terrific movie and radio fan following, was with C.B.S. early in his career in the 1930s, later moving to N.B.C. and switching to A.B.C. three years ago.

Another top entertainer who might go to C.B.S. is Edgar Bergen. He left N.B.C. in December and said he was retiring from the air until next fall. It has been strongly rumored in the trade that when he brings Charley McCarthy back on the air it will be over C.B.S.

training school sessions in the county, Mains said.

The firemen last night were guests of the Town of Esopus Fire Companies; Port Ewen, Esopus, Connelly, St. Remy and Rifton, and 225 attended.

A first reading of revised by-laws of the association was given by Edwin Kolts, chairman of the committee in charge of making the changes.

Morton Finch, president of the association, was named a delegate to the convention next summer of the Hudson Valley Volunteer Firemen's Association and William Gardner, chief of the Saugerties Fire Department, was named alternate.

Fred Harder announced that he had collected $30.50 as the association's contribution to the March of Dimes.

Charles Vogel, representative of the board of fire underwriters, gave demonstrations of various types of fires, and stressed the dangers of liquids which are not widely known for their highly inflammable propensities, such as nail polish.

Entertainment was provided by members of the St. Remy Fire Department, and music was by the We-Nol Band of Port Ewen.

The firemen will be guests of the Veteran Volunteer Firemen's Association at Central fire station, Kingston in February.

The meeting adjourned in respect to the memory of the late Charles Riggins of the Tilson Fire Company and Harry C. Marquart of the A. H. Wicks Engine Company, Kingston.

Industrial Program Must Be Stronger C. of C. Reports

All five members of the Kingston Chamber of Commerce executive committee attended the first special meeting Tuesday night since their election last Wednesday. President Robert E. Teetsel presided. Others present were Vice Presidents George W. Schneider, James P. Byrne, Edmund P. Rochford, and treasurer, Victor H. Roth.

President Teetsel stated today that any new members who pay the annual Chamber of Commerce dues now, or between now and May 1, the beginning of the membership year, will be credited with a membership to May 1, 1950. The membership card and sign will be sent out upon receipt of the membership fee.

It was also decided to set up a Retail Merchants Division in the Chamber of Commerce. In the near future an open meeting of all retail merchants who are members will be called to elect their own officers and develop a program for the retailers.

Numerous other matters and policies were discussed including the Broadway crossing elimination, the proposed Kingston-Rhinecliff bridge, and the committees to be named for the year. The following committees will be named at another meeting next week: Finance, traffic and transportation, community improvement, industrial promotion, industrial procurement, membership, publicity, area relations, special events and national affairs. The terms of all 1948 committees expired at the time of the annual elections.

The executive committee decided that the entire industrial program should be strengthened. An aggressive program will be launched to assist and cooperate in the recognition and promotion of local established industries. The other phase will consist of a definite program to attract new industries and expand employment opportunities especially for men.

Executive secretary Albert Kurdt stated this morning that he is pleased with the active interest and support in the development of a strong Chamber of Commerce program, for the benefit of Kingston and the surrounding area. He expressed the hope that all members will make suggestions for consideration by the appropriate committees.

Tractor-Trailer Damages 2 Trees

Two small trees in front of the home of Mrs. S. S. Daves, 187 East Chester street, were damaged when struck by a tractor-trailer which jumped the curb there at 7 p. m. Tuesday.

A police report said the truck was owned and operated by Lynn W. Hansplant, 112 Overhill Road, Cynwyd, Pa., who said he was "cut off" by another truck as he was headed south on East Chester street. The truck was towed to a garage.

Albert Snyder, Sr., R.D. Saugerties, driving south on Pine street, and Arthur Moskos, 175 Washington avenue, were involved in another slight collision, according to a report at 8:15 p. m. Both reported damages but no injuries.

Quantico, Va., Jan. 20—Marine Private First Class David E. Collins, son of Mrs. J. P. Collins of 159 Green street, Kingston, N. Y., will march with the famed Twenty-second Marine Battalion during the presidential inaugural parade in Washington, D. C., following the inaugural ceremonies at the Capitol building.

In addition to the Twenty-second Marines, stationed here at the Marine Corps schools, marines from their barracks in Washington, D. C., and a company of women marines from Marine Corps headquarters are taking part in the inaugural parade.

The U. S. Marine Band, which has played at every inauguration since that of President John Adams on New Year's Day, 1801, is included in the marines' participation. Marine Corps officers in the Washington area are prepared to serve as military aides to governors of various states.

Price Corrections

Advertisements of the Mohican in The Freeman on Tuesday should have listed boiled ham at $1 a pound and whipped cream cake, two layers for 45 cents.

Gloves Are $1

Kaye Sportswear advertisement in Tuesday's edition of The Freeman should have listed virgin wool gloves, $2 values at $1.
